MAD'S "STAR WARS" MUSICAL

Tsk Tsk Tsk. You guys made a slight mistake in your "Star Wars Musical". You have Luke Skywalker and Artoo-Detoo flying off from the Death Star in a Tie-Fighter. That's what Darth Vader Zoomed around in. Luke flew in an X-wing Fighter. Aside from that, the Force was clearly with you in your musical.

David Wiechorek
Paris, Ontario,
Canada

I never know when you're fooling, MAD! That mix-up in fighters; was that intentional, or an error, or an intentional error?

Chris Motley
Dallas, Texas

I don't want to tell you FORCEfully, but, you made a galactic-sized mistake!

Katherine McKie
Edmonton, Alberta,
Canada

I hope you're planning to award a prize to the one-millionth reader to write in about your "wrong fighter" goof. Consider me registered. Other than that, my only carp is that "Star Wars Musical" was too short. I hadn't read MAD in years and now know what's been missing in life.

Linda Osborne Blood

We were shocked, too, until we learned that Mort Drucker is an avowed Darth Vader disciple!—Ed.

IF FREEDOM OF THE PRESS APPLIED TO HIGH SCHOOL PAPERS

The last time I stopped by the Annette Funicello Memorial High School Weekly Muckraker newspaper office, all the typewriters had been stolen. Obviously, by the Principal and Faculty.

Shari Miller
East Orange, N. J.

In reference to your editorial comment in your "High School Newspaper", it is my opinion there is enough vandalism in our public schools today. You had better watch your step, Mr. Neuman. I am seriously considering filing a libel suit against you in behalf of the City of New York.

A "SATURDAY NIGHT FEEBLE" ENCORE

Thanks to Mort Drucker and Arnie Kogen for casting me as "Stepfunny Mandingy" in "Saturday Night Feeble". For years I've dreamed of being immortalized in your turkey magazine and the truth is that's the real reason I made the film. I hope my first record album, which I'm completing in London at the present time, will suffer the same fate. It is composed of all my original songs and I'm sure it will merit a divine MAD-attack!

IF SESAME STREET BRANCHED OUT INTO SPECIALIZED AVENUES OF EDUCATION

Davis and Jacobs missed one area when they made "If Sesame Street Branched Out Into Specialized Avenues Of Education". They forgot Political Street. That's where the kids can learn new words like Watergate and Koreagate and cover-ups and break-ins and pay-offs and double-crosses. I guess they didn't use Political Street because Mafia Street is almost identical.

FANTASY "BUY" LAND

Angelo Torres didn't come up short with his masterful drawings of "Ratchew". Clever how he receded and lowered the rest of the "Fantasy Island" characters to give him headroom. Angelo is your most consistent artist, and that's no fantasy!

Gee, Wizzo, I didn't think I'd see you back here this year!

I promised my folks I'd be a Senior by the time I was thirty! And I only missed by three years!

Hey, don't touch my hair! It's my key to fame and fortune!

Whadda ya mean?!?

Some guy from a big company saw me and offered me a big contract!

You mean like Paramount Pictures??

Nahh... Standard Oil! They said my hair should be good for at least ten barrels a day!

This year, I'm gonna turn over a NEW LEAF! I'm gonna take a BATH a lot more often!

Like ONCE a DAY?

I meant like ONCE a SEMESTER!

I seriously thought about quitting my job as a Teacher here and taking up Alligator Wrestling instead!

Why didn't you?

This is much more of a CHALLENGE!

Y'know, it's funny! Everything here is so different! Here, when it's Winter, it's Summer back home! When it's daytime here, it's nighttime there! Here you go SOUTH to get warm, there we go NORTH! Everything is just opposite!

You're right! What's exciting in Australia is very dull up here!

Like What?

Like YOU!!

Hey, whatchya doin', Dinny?

Practising for the big Disco Contest Saturday!

Schmuck! That's in another picture!

So what's the big difference?! I'm gonna do the same kinda things in THIS one!!

Let me tell you about Summer love . . .

Started feelin'
I was deep fried!

Started peelin'—
lost half my hide!

Blisters, sun rash!
I never tanned!

Lost all my cash
in the damn sand!

Sun burn
blotch!

Sand up
your crotch!

Ain't no fun in Summer love!!

Dinny!
It's
you!!

I called, and your parents said you moved away from home!

Ahh, they only said that to protect their property value!

Then I looked for you on the beach . . . and I thought you'd drowned!

Why'd you think that?

I saw an oil slick on the ocean!

Isn't
it lucky we met again?!

Lucky for us,
but not for this picture!

How come?

Because we had our big emotional scenes in the first two minutes!
What's left!?!?

Let's think of a problem to keep this movie moving!

How about me wanting to leave
Brooklyn
to go live in Manhattan?

Why do you keep going back to your last movie?

I want to FORGET!!

But you keep remembering your PAST!!

I know! It's the present I want to forget!

The guys are watchin'
me! I better be mean
and cruel to her . . .

Hey, chick! Get lost!

Why is he so cruel
to me?

He's embarrassed to have the guys
think he's in love with a girl!

And it's less embarrassing
if they think
he's in love
with a GUY?!?

I got an offer to go into films!

Yeah!! VD films! for the Army!

I admire Wizzo for staying in school!

Yeah! She's staying until graduation or menopause, whichever comes first!!

Here am I, I'm apple pie;
Wholesome 'til the day I die;
There is no doubt;
This dish just won't make out;
This dish is apple pie!

It's for sure I'm virgin pure;
And I'll never take the cure;
I'll just say "Nope!"—
And be like Ivory Soap;
Forever virgin pure!

Are you making fun of me?

I didn't know you were there!

Will you please stop standing in front of white walls!

Kenocker, I'll give you everything, but . . .!

Everything, but what??

Everything, but resistance!

Oh, Kenocker, you sure are terrific at making love!!

Don't thank him . . .!

... Thank me!!

Get outta here, Cragface, and leave us alone!

I just wanted to see how that sloppy beat-up old heap could take it!

Hey, nobody talks about my car that way!!

I was talking about your date!!

Oh, that's different!

Whatchya doin' with him?!!

He's an athlete! Or, as you say in America . . . a "Yock"!

That's "JOCK"!

He's wonderful! He can do anything you can do, and more!! Much more!

Yeah? Can he give a car a complete lube job, just by rubbing his head on the engine block?!

Dog-gie School drop out!
All the dogs were smarter than you!
Dog-gie School drop out!
You couldn't do what doggies do!

You failed "fetch" and "sit" and even "heel"! And now, they're all complaining! You left school in such an awful mess, When you flunked "paper training"!

That does it! I'm gonna go where no one will NOTICE how stupid I am! I'm going back to Riddle High!

Gee, her problem gets solved almost as fast as Dinny and Sandee's!

I've been thinking, Dinny! There are two things I can't do! One is to keep running after you! The other is hang around with those dumb girls!

Hey, there's another thing you can't do!

What? DANCE!!

Hello, Dinny! I've missed you! Remember when we used to bounce on my bed?!

When you were kids together?!

I'm talking about when we made out together!!

Well, it's time to get angry at you again, Dinny! Good-bye!!

WANNA DANCE?

... and the winners are Dinny and Cha Cha!

They get a trophy for being the best dancers, and fifty dollars for oiling the gym floor!

I think the Puerto Rican couple shoulda won!

I think you better forget your last movie and try to salvage THIS one!!

It's about time I got a problem of my own in this flick!

Hey, Kenocker, I think I'm pregnant! But don't breathe a word of this to anybody!

YOU'RE PREGNANT

Hey! Wizzo's knocked up!

Oh-oh! I'm leavin' town!

The whole town is leavin' town!!

Why'd you have to do THAT for!?

I never saw a stampede before!

What'll this do to my reputation?!

Confirm it!!

You really think you can beat Cragface in a car race...?

Sure! I'll burn rubber when I start... zig-zag around the traffic lights... cut him off... and ram him!

Think you can do all that??

Why not?! I DID IT on my Driver's Test!!

Amazing! I never saw anything like that!!

Ahhh, I see that kind of thing plenty!

Really? When??

When the kids try to get a spot in the High School parking lot!!

You won, Dinny! You won!

You're fabulous, Dinny! Make out with me!

Make out with ME!

No, ME!

Sorry! I'm saving myself till I'm married!

And when you're married?

THEN, I'll make out with ALL of you!!

I love him, and I'm going to change for him! That's the moral in this movie! In order to get the guy you love...

You have to be a SLUT!! What a wonderful message for the youth of America!!

Hi, there, Stud! What's happenin'?

You bet your buns, lover!

Guess what, Kenocker! I'm not pregnant!

Ahhh, who cares!!

Oh, wow, Sandee! Is that YOU?!

That's fantastic! Just a minute ago, you were a dull, bland virgin! Now, you're a dull, bland slut!

These were the fifties, when Things were really great and Folks weren't goin' nuts! Kids then were nifties, with Girls in clingy sweaters and Guys in duck-tail hair cuts! Life was a Saturday night prom date! That's the way it was then!

But we won't mention the People like McCarthy and Crazies like him around! And Cold War tension, with War in South Korea and Bomb shelters underground! Things now are A helluva lot better Than the way it was then!

Every year, our government spends millions of dollars buying stuff. And every day, we hear about millions of dollars spent on stuff that was later discovered to be no good. Well, since it's our tax money that's being wasted, we at MAD feel that the government should be forced to shop more wisely. And what do many wise shoppers use to help them make their shopping decisions? "Consumer Reports"—the marvelous magazine that tests and rates almost every product offered for sale in this great country of ours. MAD therefore proposes that "Consumer Reports" take that much-needed step in their campaign to protect us little guys, and eliminate the costly mistakes made by government purchasing agencies with this special edition of their magazine:

Six New Aircraft Carriers

When the government goes out and plunks down two billion dollars of hard-earned cash (hard-earned for the tax-payer, easily plunked down for the government), it should know what it's getting for its money. For this report, we rounded up six new aircraft carriers and put them through their paces. Well, actually, we tried to put them through their paces. Quite frankly, two billion dollars doesn't buy the kind of quality that it used to!

Aircraft carriers range in length from under 500 feet to over 1000 feet, but for simplicity's sake, we've grouped them as "Large," "Very Large" and "Humongus". The list of options was staggering. There were pages and pages of them. The buyer had his choice of propulsions, communication centers, electronic warfare equipment, catapults, elevators, arresting gear, etc. In each case, we chose what we thought was good value for the money. Fortunately, choice of color was a lot easier. In every case, it was battleship gray.

In order to test these aircraft carriers fairly, we sent out a member of our staff posing as a Dictator of a small emerging nation. He purchased six different carriers. Upon receiving the carriers, we ran them each for a period of six months, using them in both calm and rough seas. From time to time, we wiped small villages off the face of the earth in order to test their war capabilities. Here, then is a summary of what we found:

RATINGS

AIRCRAFT CARRIERS

Acceptable

UNITED STATES AIRCRAFT CARRIER

This vessel was large, roomy and comfortable, and was preferred by almost all our test staff members. Although it had plenty of military equipment such as blast shields, life nets, mid-sea fueling stations, dual landing pads, sonar, etc., it received extra points because it also had four restaurants, two movie theaters, a laundromat, a gym, a bowling alley and closed circuit TV. List price, $2,900,000.00. Staff paid $2,499,999.99 at a January Gray Sale.

RUSSIAN AIRCRAFT CARRIER

The Russian entry was the lowest priced carrier in the test, only $1,067,000.00 including postage, which cost up to $450,000 on some of the other carriers. Although the construction of the hull itself seemed quite substantial, it lacked many of the niceties of the U.S. entry. The entertainment complex on this ship consisted of a slide projector and a box of out-dated magazines. Also, the low price was reflected in the absence of instrumentation on the control bridge.

JAPANESE AIRCRAFT CARRIER

The Japanese entry seemed to be the best dollar value, but with 4,789 gauges labeled with things like 現 and 利, we were unable to test it thoroughly. As a matter of fact, we had to call off our tests when we pushed a control that we thought was "forward" and the vessel filled with water and sunk to dockside.

ENGLISH/FRENCH AIRCRAFT CARRIER

Still not ready for testing at press time, the English and French are trying to equal their accomplishment with the "Concorde SST" by designing an aircraft carrier that can cruise at 1000 knots an hour. However, it has two drawbacks that we can see so far. It will only carry ten sailors and a very small Piper Cub. In addition, delivery time has been moved to the year 2003 and at our last check with the factory we were informed that they were about 14 years behind in making that delivery date.

ITALIAN AIRCRAFT CARRIER

The Italian entry had some novel innovations. Among them was a large room, large enough to land enemy aircraft and discuss matters over some serious wine-tasting. Also, it had capacity to make pizza for 8000 men at a sitting.

Not Acceptable

POLISH AIRCRAFT CARRIER

At first, the Polish entry seemed to be the very best of the lot. Landing planes on the flight deck was a snap. It had the widest and longest deck of all the carriers tested. Furthermore, the deck had no dangerous obstacles for planes to hit on take-off or landing. About the sixth day of the test, we learned why. The Polish Aircraft Carrier floats upside-down in the water!

Latest Spy Equipment

It is vital for some government agencies to stock and use spy equipment such as mini-tape recorders and sub-sub-compact cameras. This is done, of course, for national security, as well as for laughs.

For this test, we gathered up all the sub-miniature equipment we could find. However, much of it was so small, it was lost during the tests. Our mail department, for example, threw out a lot of it by mistake along with the packing cases it came in. And our cleaning people accidentally threw out even more of it. As you can gather, we're talking about really small equipment! Here, then, are the test results of the stuff we were able to keep track of:

RATINGS

LATEST SPY EQUIPMENT

Sub-Sub-Compact Cameras

THE FINSTER RING-O-MATIC

Here is a miniature camera designed as a ring. As you can imagine, loading and unloading the film in a camera this size can be difficult. To show you how small the film actually is, look at this photo of an ordinary pin. A six-pack of film for the Ring-O-Matic is under that pin. The pictures turned out by the Ring-O-Matic were very small. However if you order the "Super-Gigantic Poster-Sized Enlargements," the prints were 1 inch by 1 inch. The camera is fired automatically when the wearer claps his or her hands together. This eliminates cocking the shutter and pushing a shutter button for each picture. But it also had its drawbacks. Our test subject wore the Ring-O-Matic to a play, and at the final curtain, accidentally took 427 unwanted photos.

THE COWZNOFSKY MOLAR-MATIC

This camera is designed to fit into your mouth, and you can take a picture merely by clenching your teeth. It takes some practice, however, not to cover the lens with your tongue. Also, loading the camera is simple, but unloading is yecchy, especially if you've used it while dining with your subject.

Mini-Mini-Tape Recorders

THE AJAX "WATCH 'N' LISTEN"

This tape recorder is small enough to fit under your wristwatch. But it has several drawbacks. When we listened to a replay of a tape made by our first tester, the 60-minute tape contained nothing audible but the "tick-tock-tick-tock-tick-tock" of his watch. We then tried a tester wearing an electronic watch, and we got a 60-minute tape of "HMM". As a last resort, we had a tester wear the tape recorder with no watch to hide it. Unfortunately, he was shot as a foreign spy.

THE GF "COIN-A-PHRASE"

This ingenious tape recorder is no larger than a quarter. In fact, it looks exactly like a quarter. The idea is to lay it on the bar near your subject, so it looks like ordinary change. The quality of sound reproduction is excellent, and it records for 2 hours on one mini-battery. But here's a tip! Don't lay it on a bar, even if the Instruction Manual recommends it. The Bartender in our test situation thought it was a tip, and kept it. Which turned out to be a $356.00 tip (list price) on a 75¢ drink. Incidentally, the only way to tell the Coin-A-Phrase tape recorder from a real quarter is to check the face of the coin. On the Coin-A-Phrase, instead of "In God We Trust," it says, "In Duracell We Trust." That's the battery compartment lid.

Electric Tank Appears On The Scene

While the citizen consumer market has a use for the electric car, it seems to follow that the government would have a use for an electric tank. Well, they may get one someday . . . but not now, if the KNEO-1 Armored Tank is any example of the current state of the art. The biggest drawback of this two-man tank is hidden in its model identification—"KNEO"—which stands for "Keep Near Electric Outlet." And our tests confirmed this huge drawback. Because of the weight of the armorment and the heavy steel construction, the tank's electric motor was only able to propel the tank a distance of 328 feet before the batteries needed recharging. The price of $150,000.00 does include a 100-foot extension cord, and even though the instruction manual boasts "Charges itself even while in battle as long as it's plugged in," we feel this entry is a long way from being a useful addition to any military power's arsenal.

Ooops! Sorry About That!

In our last issue of Consumer Reports For Government Purchasing Agencies, we reported that the new Battlefield Portable Communications System BF/PCS-2-GRN automatically scrambled and coded all information so that only a matching BF/PCS-2-GRN unit could unscramble and decode that secret, confidential information. Unfortunately, further testing has proved that we were wrong! The information broadcast by one of these units can be picked up by any transceiver, including those used by enemy agents. CRGPA wishes to apologize for this mistake, especially to the guys in the Pentagon who will now have to make up totally new plans to protect the United States from foreign powers.

Tests Military Cookbooks

Grandma probably told you how much butter and salt to put into your potatoes to please a family of five, but how much butter and salt do you need to please an Army base of 50,000? It's a little more complicated.

CRGPA bought samples of 10 Military Cookbooks and prepared several recipes as per their instructions. We then had staffers sample and rate the results, which we will publish next month. (P.S. If you'd like any mashed potatoes for your family, or for land-fill, or for any reason, stop by our offices. We made mashed potatoes for 60,000. . . and our staff consists of six people. Talk about left-overs!)

Wind Turbines

The Federal Government has invested in many small businesses in the hopes of coming up with a feasible method of generating power with wind turbines. Wind turbine, of course, is just another name for "wind mill" — but with the government spending millions of dollars on research, they had to come up with a more "technical" name for wind mill, and that's why the name "wind turbine" was invented.

The results to date are only marginal. In our estimation, the best plan was developed by a firm called ORAL INDUSTRIES, which is working on a turbine that will convert hot air emanating from the mouth into energy. ORAL INDUSTRIES estimates that they could set up such a unit inside the House of Representatives, and generate enough power in one Congressional Session to supply electricity to the entire Northeastern portion of the United States. The House of Representatives, however, voted recently against giving any more development money to ORAL INDUSTRIES. While doing so, they generated over 100 million volts.

Satellite Launchers

No matter what purpose a satellite is used for: communications, education, reconnaissance, etc., it has to get into outer space via a launcher. Up until now, launchers such as Delta, Centaur and Titan III-C have cost upwards of five million dollars each. So you can understand how excited we were when we heard recently about a new satellite launcher under construction by the Orbital Insertion and Bedspring Manufacturing Company of Buffalo, N. Y.

We telephoned Carl Ticking, the President of OIBMC, and inquired if we might be able to acquire one of their new launchers for testing purposes. He asked us what we intended to use it for, and we told him we wanted to launch a weather satellite that would circle the earth and report back weather conditions. Carl informed us that their new satellite launcher was still in the construction stage, and the best they could offer us at the present time was a Junior Orbital Inserter, which might be able to put a very small weather satellite into orbit around a small town at best, and only around the block at worst.

Still and all, since the Junior OI lists for only $239.00, it is a far cry from the five million-plus that the others go for, and we will keep close tabs on its progress.

Letters To Us

Gentlemen:

Thank goodness not all government agencies read your trashy magazine with its useless tests. A few months ago, in your article, "CRGPA Tests Postal Service Equipment" you downgraded our Automatic Zip Code Reader/Sorter, yet the Postal Service saw fit to buy 20,000 of our units!

Now, what do you say?

Bill O. Laidin
Chicago, Ill.

We don't have to say anything, Bill. You mailed your letter on January 5th, and we received it on May 23rd.

Gentlemen:

Your magazine is a good one, but I wish to take this opportunity to warn your readers about Missile Repair Gyp Artists. We had some trouble with our 675-HJK Turbo-Fan Missile (CRPGA, June '77) and called in a service man. We knew it was just a by-pass resistor in the Harrier Circuit, but this con artist hit us with a complete Fanbarker Assembly replacement. What do you think?

Gen. Wade Inwater
APO San Francisco

Sounds like he gave you the turbo-shaft, General! Thanks for your letter. Readers, take heed.

THIS ISSUE'S PROPOSED MAD MEDALS

... TO BE PRESENTED TO DESERVING DOCTORS

THE MISSING
FORCEPS MEDAL

Awarded to Doctors who successfully pass on to their patients the higher costs of Malpractice Insurance while in no way attempting to cut down on the causes of these increased costs, mainly greed and actual malpractice.

THE FULL
CALENDAR CITATION

Goes to Doctors who demonstrate the efficiency and diligence necessary to see an unbelievable amount of patients per hour in their offices and on their hospital walk-throughs while managing to collect full fee charges for each.

THE LITTLE
GREEN PILL MEDAL

For prescribing without conscience or trepidation certain extremely expensive name-brand drugs, thus insuring both warm and lasting relationships with pharmacists, and rewarding free vacation trips from drug companies.

THE GOLDEN
SCAPEL AWARD

Awarded to Doctors who have performed surgery above and beyond the call of necessity. These procedures involve the removal of patients' appendixes, tonsils, gall bladders, ovaries, etc., whether they needed to be or not! The motto inscribed on the reverse side of the medal reads, "A removed organ can never become a really diseased organ!"

THE A.M.A.
MEDAL OF HONOR

This decoration represents the medical profession's highest award ... and can only be presented to those doctors who distinguish themselves with an unbroken record of heroically fighting the battle against Socialized Medicine, Public Health Care, lower fees, and any other profit-cutting ideas that lawmakers and do-gooders periodically come up with.

- (2) When campaign commitments require your presence elsewhere, you may not designate an "alternate intimidator" to bully persons for you in your absence.
- (3) You may not pick on people smaller than yourself. Bullying people of equal or larger size will not be permitted unless they are at some disadvantage: i.e., wearing a cast, holding a baby brother, working under a car, sleeping, etc.
- (4) Persons endorsing your candidacy may do so only under coercion.
- (5) You may not have any previous record of decency, kindness or intelligence that could result in a conflict of interest should your campaign be successful.
- (6) Medical verification must be obtained, stating that your hostility, aggressiveness and obnoxious behavior are not of a temporary nature.

It seems, my dear, like yesterday
You started out in life,
And here you are at seventeen
About to be a wife;
Let's hope the wedding gown you wear
Is full and loosely styled,
So no one there will get the chance
To see that you're with child.

To A Confused Person

You comb the land from coast to coast,
You search the whole wide earth,

What fun we had, the two of us,
Those nights when we smoked pot,
Until that day you said, "Get lost!"
And ditched me on the spot;
You treated me like so much dirt;
I really was disgusted;
Which is my way of telling you
Who went and got you busted.

TO AN EX-GIRLFRIEND

I love the park where first we met,
The whisper of the breeze;
I love the grass where once we sat
Beneath the noble trees;
I also love the wooden bench
Where first we kissed and hugged;
They all remind me how I fled
And left you to be mugged.

TO A HEALTH NUT

You don't eat fish or fowl or meat;
You won't use salt or spices;

THE JOY OF NOT BEING ACCEPTED INTO COLLEGE

Chapter One

If you fail to get into college, you may think that your life is over. It's not, as a matter of fact. It's just beginning... in a big way.

When your parents call you "stupid" and "bum," don't fight with them. Agree with them. Soon, they'll tire of hurling epithets at you, and will then try to cheer you up by saying things like, "You're really not a bum!" "Actually, you're a bright kid!" But stay with your identification as a dope and a bum. Make them feel that their words have damaged your psyche for life.

Next, they will start to feel responsible for your depressed condition and will kill themselves, trying to make you happy and get rid of their guilts. And that's when you do need in these troubled times are books that tell us how to get joy and pleasure from activities and situations that aren't very joyful and pleasurable. And so, as a public service, and to help push more slow-selling magazines, MAD now presents...

... "BOOKS WE COULD REALLY USE

WRITER: STAN HART

CHAPTER ONE

One of the greatest sources of anxiety and anguish for a teenager ■ what to do on a Saturday night. Questions such as: "Will HE call me for a date?" or "Will anyone in this entire planet call me for a date?" are no longer problems. Because you simply have no time to bother with such questions. Even if someone did call you, he'd probably want to jump on your bones in a drive-in movie or a deserted lovers' lane, thereby causing you another problem: mainly, how you should handle your chastity... among other things.

Who needs such problems? By being assigned ■ heavy load of weekend homework, consider all the agonies you've avoided.

CHAPTER I

To some young girls, the threat of an unwanted pregnancy is a terrible thing to contemplate.

Take heart. There can be joy in it. First, it refutes your parents' claim that you can't do anything right. Kid, you've done it right this time! Next, think about all the old clothes you've been wearing. Aren't you tired of them and also the hassle your parents give you whenever you ask for new threads? Well, now you'll have a complete new wardrobe every couple of months! And don't feel sorry for your folks. Just think of the joy they'll derive being pitied by all their friends. A once-overlooked couple will now be center stage, and you've put them there!

Chapter One

Just because you can look, but you can't touch is no reason to me miserable. Be happy. Be joyous. After all, aren't you always saying to yourself, "Boy, what I could do with a girl like that!"? Sure you are!

Well, if you had a girl like that, chances are you'd do something awkward, foolish or disgusting. Also, you might find that there's more satisfaction in thinking about making out than making out itself.

So rejoice that you don't have the chance to louse up your fantasies and dreams. The real world is always a big disappointment. Take the experience of Marvin Farshimmelt, for example. Once,

THE JOY OF FAMILY GATHERINGS

CHAPTER ONE

Torture, you say, when your parents drag you to a family gathering?

Wrong! It's a joy... if you think about it for a second.

Where else can you reinforce your prejudices that all adults are idiots? Where else can you feel totally justified in loathing members of your family... like that dopey Uncle who thinks that ■ lampshade on a head is still hysterically funny?

Family meetings afford a wonderful opportunity to wallow in self-pity... that you're part of a family that has such mindless oafs in it.

WE ALL KNOW ABOUT THOSE CUTE LETTERS THAT KIDS WRITE TO SANTA CLAUS BEFORE XMAS, ASKING FOR ALL KINDS OF STUFF.

KID'S LETTERS TO

Dear Santa,

COULD you Do me a FAVOR next XMAS AND SHOW some new cartoonz on tv? if i see Rudolph, Frosty or that Faggot Drummer Boy one more time, iLL barf! im ONLY seven yearz old AND iVE seen them all seven times!!

SARA schlockmeyer

Pere Santa,

I got lots of dolls from you for Xmas, but Im all mixt up. One doll called Arnie Anatomical has a real wachacallit like my baby brother—but the rest of my boy dolls have nu-thin at all. Dont the Bionic Man, El Joe, Evil Knievel or Donnie Osmond have any you know?

Your friend,
Linda Luffenkupp

Dear Santa,

I hate to bother you, cause I know you're probably busy with exchanges, but you misunderstood my request. I asked for that doll, Lee Majors...not a Lee Majors doll! I'm too big to play with dolls. So could you please send me the real Lee Majors so I can play with him.

Sincerely,
Sidel Blount

DEAR SANTA,

HEY, MAN, I'M REPORTING YOU TO THE GOVERNMENT FOR DISCRIMINATION AGAINST MINORITIES, NAMELY ME. THERE'S THIS RICH DUDE IN MY CLASS, AND YOU BROUT HIM EVERYTHING HE ASKED FOR. YOU EVIN BROUT HIM STUF HE DINT ASK FOR. MAN, ALL I ASKED YOU FOR WAS A PAIR OF SEREUS SWADE PUMAS, AND YOU BROUT ME A REGULER PAIR OF SHOES. YOUR A REAL FINK.

LEROY WASHINGTON

Dear Shovenist Pig,

You got a lot of nerve bringing me all that yecchy stuff. Who needs a doll that wets or a toy vacume cleaner or a dishwasher?! When I grow up, I'm going to be a Nuclear Phisist. I wanted a chemistry set, an electric calculator, and a microscope.

Ms. Glenda Glockenspiel

BUT WHAT HAPPENS WHEN XMAS FINALLY ARRIVES, AND THE KIDS SEE WHAT THEY GOT. WHAT WE WOULD REALLY LIKE TO SEE IS

SANTA AFTER XMAS

WRITER: LOU SILVERSTONE

Dear Santa,

I think you made a mistake. I wanted a pinball machine for Xmas and you sent me a baby sister. I am returning her to you in a separate package in exchange for a pinball machine.

Thank you,
Kenny Fernern

Dear Santa,

Xmas is supposed to BE the time of year for fun, but thanks to YOU, it's no fun at all. I'm always being threatened -- You Better not POUT! -- You be or GOOD! -- He knows when you've been BAD knows when you're Awake! And like that! I mean, you're worse THAN the C.I.A.! In the future, you don't have to bring me anything! Just get off my Case!

Donald O'Reilly

Dear Santa,

Thanx for the Steve Garvey glove, the Lou Brock baseball shoes, the Tom Seaver baseball & the Reggie Jackson bat. They don't help me hit or catch or run or throw any better, but now the kids let me play if I let them use my bat, ball, glove and shoes.

Bobby Booberman

Dear Santa,

Thanks for bringing me all those neat TV toys I asked for. I got some bad news for you. None of the toys worked like they did on TV and almost all of them broke when I played with them. I think you better get rid of those elfs you got working for you in your toy shop and hire some good workers.

Yours truly,
Basil Beondock

DEAR SANTA,

I WASN'T SURPRISED THAT YOU DIDN'T BRING ME ANYTHING I ASKED FOR BECAUSE THE DAY I TALKED TO YOU, YOU WERE STONED OUT OF YOUR SKULL. SINCE YOU ONLY WORK TWO MONTHS OUT OF THE YEAR, THE LEAST YOU COULD DO IS LAY OFF THE JUICE UNTIL YOUR BUSY SEASON IS OVER. THEN, YOU COULD GET BOMBED THE REST OF THE YEAR AND NOBODY WILL CARE EXCEPT MAYBE YOUR WIFE.

DISAPPOINTED,

Arnie Klutzer

Dear Santa,

I'm starving to death because my Mother is a health food nut. I figured you could help me by bringing me some goodies for Xmas, but you really copped out on me. I don't consider carob candy canes, granola Santa Clauses and 100% bran lolly-pops to be Xmas treats.

Thank for nothing,
Frank Fillmore

Dear Santa,

I am very disappointed with the presents you brought me. I asked for a doll with long, golden hair, a doll carige and a nice pink party dress. And what did you bring me? A football uniform, boxing gloves and hokky skates! I never thought you would turn out to be a jock like my father!

Bruce Shubnick

DeRE SANT4,

YOU DID IT AGAN. I DIDNT GET A SINGLE THING I AXED F OR. I'm NOT BLAMING YOU. I THINK THE PRO BLEM IS THAT YOUR TOY FACTORY RUNS OUT OF ALL THE GOOD STUFF AND YOU HAV TO SUBSTI TOOT. I FIGURED OUT A WAY THAT I CAN GET ALL THE TOYS I WANT AND SAVE YOU A LOT OF TRUBLE AT THE SAME TIME. NEXT XMAS, JUST LEAVE ME A CHECK.

Matt Muenster

Dere Santer

On account of you I am going to become a juvenile delinkwint. I was reely good this yere, I didn't hit my sister, I kept my room clene, and I even did my homework, and what happined? You STIFFED ME again! And after you promised me that if I was a good boy I would get lots of nice presents. Some presents! Pajamaz, underwear and a sweater! You call them nice presents?!? From now on, I'm gonna be a reel bad dude, and it's all your fault.

Harvey Hittlmeier

Dear Santa,

You'll have to pardon my handritings. I'm doing it lefty as my right arm is in a sling. As you know, I asked you for a moped for Xmas and you gave it to me which shows that you really don't have much brains giving a moped to a kid. I am only 10 years old, and don't know any better! What's your excuse???

Thomas Strudlemann

P.S. Lucky for me I didn't ask for a Honda. I'd probably have both arms in slings and I wouldn't be able to rite you at all.

Dear Sandy Claws,

You know that ant farm you brung me for Xmas? Well, gess what happened? I dropped it and the ants excaped all over the house when we had cumpany. My mother got P.O.'d at my father and called him an idiot for getting me such a stupid toy, and my father said my ma's such a lousy house keeper a few more insects wouldnt even be noticed. It was a real neat fight. It was even better than watching T.V. So thanks a lot for the most fun I ever got from a present.

PRESS AND JERK DEPT.

Remember the terrific "Mary Tyler Moore Show" of a couple of seasons back? It took place in the newsroom of a mythical TV station, where a funny Editor and his funny Staff got involved in a different funny story every week. Well, that Editor now has a TV show of his own where he plays a similar role as the City Editor of a mythical newspaper. The only difference is that now he's no longer surrounded by a funny Staff . . . and the stories he gets involved in every week aren't very funny either. Which may help to explain why he's now known as . . .

Lou Grouch

Listen, Pig . . . when the Trib's star reporter asks you a question, just stop whatever you're doing and answer! Understand . . . ?

Let's stop in for a drink! I feel like I'm starting to sober up, and that could ruin my reputation as a two-fisted newspaperman!

Hey, Lou! Why is Raunchi screaming at that cop who's trying to give First Aid?

He's on a story I assigned him!

But . . . if he behaves that way, he'll never get the facts he'll need to write up the accident!

What accident?!? I just told him to act obnoxious till the cop finally gets mad and slugs him! Then, he can write that "Police Brutality" story I assigned him!

Don't you resent Lou for always making you wear that dog collar and leash outside the office?

No, Lou says it's for my own protection! A guy who looks like me could get hauled off to the pound if he hasn't had his shots!

ARTIST: ANGELO TORRES

WRITER: TOM KOCH

'Scuse me . . . can I have the salt, please?

Don't ever say that again in my presence! It's ungrammatical! The correct form is, "MAY I have the salt?!". And you call yourself a Newspaperman?!?

No . . . I call myself a Shoe Clerk!! I was already sitting here when you barged in and took my booth!

Look, Lou! It worked! That rotten Pig pushed me and made my arm red!

And that's your idea of Police Brutality?! If you were HALF the Reporter I used to be, you would have badgered him into tromping on your head . . . and kicking you in the groin!!

I'll bet Lou's really a big, loveable Teddy Bear, not this sadistic, boorish lout we see!

I don't get it! I'm the boss of 200 people here in the City Room, and not one of them ever speaks to me! Why?

Because they're Extras who are hired just to sit there! See, our Producer thinks they make it more believable when you and I and two reporters seem to be putting out the paper all by ourselves!

These Editorial meetings ALWAYS vote to feature my hottest local story on page one! But today, you want to headline some dull item about Portugal sinking into the ocean?!? And you call yourself a Newspaperman?!?

No, I call myself the Janitor! But you asked for my opinion, so I gave it to you!

When I was News Editor on the Mary Tyler Moore Show, I never had this kind of trouble ... finding local stories that make me look good!

That's because your staff were talented performers who'd make ANYBODY look good! But now, you've only got US!!

Cheer up, Lou! We'll think of a big story! How about finding a kidnapped millionaire ... or impeaching an incompetent judge ... or having Raunchi pose as a mental patient to expose conditions in our State Hospitals?

Nahh! We did all that stuff last week! Besides, it was unbelievable!

WHAT was ... ?

Well ... for one thing ... the Hospital Psychiatrists tried to tell us Raunchi was SANE!

Remember how great it was when we were just starting out in the newspaper business 25 years ago! Those were the good old days!

But we only got paid 40 bucks a week then! How can you call those "the good old days"?

Because I still had a bushy head of hair, weighed 150 pounds and made out with chicks at least twice a year!

Engine Co. 24, investigate a small fire in a tool shed at 18th and Oak ...

That's it!! Our big story!! Can't you see? They're calling it a small fire because they don't want us to send a Reporter! But my nose for news smells something funny!

I smell something funny, too! But then, I always do when I get trapped in the same room with The Beast!

You guys can't make me divulge my sources, but I got word that this is a fire!

Psst! Psst! I seen the whole thing, and—

The past tense is not "I seen", you idiot! It's "I saw"! That's elementary grammar! And you call yourself a Newspaperman?!?

No ... I call myself an Arsonist! That's how come I seen the whole thing!

Those guys let one very suspicious fact slip out! They said the fire did $30 damage, and I'll bet it cost the city TWICE that much just to answer the call!

Wow! Talk about wasting the Taxpayer's money!! Figure about ten thousand minor calls a year at $60 apiece! That's scandalous!!

You want to hear "scandalous"?!? What about twenty million viewers wasting sixty minutes apiece watching us cover a $30 fire?!?

Think of the embarrassing questions this whole thing raises! Like why was this particular fire at 18th and Oak? Who broadcast the alarm? Why does a chicken cross a road?

Lou... what's all that have to do with our story?

Nothing! It's just a routine I do to show how the keen mind of a real Journalist works!

No wonder we get so many nasty letters from real Journalists!

I'm sure City Hall is ordering those small fires set, just to get more money for the Fire Department! So let's go tell Mrs. Pynchbottom, our Publisher, how we're gonna expose the racket!

Oh, no! Please don't make me go talk to Mrs. Pynchbottom!!

Are you afraid of her because she owns this newspaper, and she can fire you?

No, I'm afraid of her because she's seven feet tall and she can punch me in the head with her sharp elbows!

Thank heaven! I was hoping you'd come!!

I knew you'd feel that way about it! Humid wasn't even sure this Fire Department scandal was big enough to bother you with! But I remembered how you always like to get involved in exposing corruption! So I said—

HOLD IT!! Lady, who are them guys?!

Never say "THEM guys," you Ninny! It's always "THESE guys," except when the nominative or accusative case is desired... in which case, it's "THOSE guys!" And you call yourself a Newspaperman!!

No, I call myself a Terrorist! But let it go for now!

I figure the top brass in the Fire Department must be involved, so I'm going after the story, even if it means putting my job on the line!

Mr. Grouch... you've talked about putting your job on the line every week since you CAME here!

Well, you haven't fired me yet... so that must PROVE something!

Yes, it proves I can't find another Editor who will work with those undisciplined flakes in the City Room!

I appreciate your moral support, Mrs. P!

Wait! You can't just leave! What about my—my situation!?!?

Never fear! Your job as Publisher is safe in my book! Ta-ta! And nice to have met you, Mr. Uhh—

Just call me One Whose Life Is Dedicated To Vengeful Pan-Arabism!!

Okay, but speaking as an experienced Newspaperman, I can tell you... it's a waste ■ time to wear that ski mask! They hardly ever get snow in Arabia!

You shoulda heard the long-standing ovation I got from Mrs. Pynchbottom for my Fire Department idea! But, as we pursue this story, we must carry high the banner of responsible Journalism! The First Amendment is in our sacred trust, and we must—

Oh, for Pete's sake, Lou... what do you want us to do???

I want you to shut up and hear my speech! It's the same one that earned me a medal in "High School Debating"!

And here's the best part of my plan for covering the story! Raunchi is going to wear this disguise so he can feed us the lowdown from the INSIDE...!

The lowdown from the inside of WHAT? A fish tank at the Aquarium? He looks like a sick carp!

Nahh! He's disguised as a School Crossing Guard so he can get the goods on Kindergarten Jay-Walkers!

I'd say he's probably gonna write a story on ■ typical day in the life of a "Flasher"!

Idiots! He's disguised as ■ Fireman so he can dig into the scandal! What's WRONG with you people, anyway!?!?

Nothing's wrong with US!! It's YOU!! Why do you have to make a crusade out of every little story instead of writing it in simple words the way the "Gazette" does?

Because there's already ■ show on the air about people who write things in simple words! It's called "Sesame Street"!

It must be a new Rookie from the Fire Academy!

You guessed it, Smokey! Now, clear off a desk for my typewriter, and then have one of your flunkies broil a steak for my Dalmatian here!

Something about this guy reminds me of a Reporter! A REAL Fireman uses an AXE to create havoc! But this guy does it with just his rotten personality!!

These records prove it! They haven't had a single call to a major fire this year! Just a lot of little ones that they probably set themselves!

Amazing!! I never saw a Dalmatian before that could use a Camera!

It's probably just a trick! I'll bet half his pictures are blurry when he gets 'em back from the Drug Store!

Engine Co. 17! Answer a two-alarm fire at Elm and Fifth!

Let's go! You take the back seat on the Hook-And-Ladder, Rookie!

The dog can ride up front with me! I want to ask him why my pictures are always under-exposed with an F5.6 lens setting at 1/250th!

HEY, you guys! WAIT!! I gotta tell you something IMPORTANT!! Time out!!

I'm getting worried about Raunchi! He still hasn't phoned in! Maybe one of those Firemen saw through his disguise!

What about calls on my private line in Raunchi's secret code ... which sounds like a whole lot of unprintable vulgarity?

No... we ain't had anything like that, either!

Never say "We ain't," you stupid broad! The correct form for the first person plural must always be "We haven't"! And you call yourself a Newspaperwoman!

Wrong, wise guy! I call myself The Princess Of Monaco! I'm just working at this crummy switchboard job to put Prince Ranier through Medical School!

WAIT!! PLEASE!! Le'me explain!! King's X!!
